

DATA PROTECTION

We appreciate your visit to our website. As you may be interested in our services and may need to provide your personal data for possible cooperation, we would like to first inform you about our activities in the field of data protection.

Your data are a sensitive and serious issue for us. By visiting our website, you should not be given the impression that your data is used in a different manner than that which we expressly communicate.

CURIE CONSULTING attaches great importance to the protection of your data. Your data are collected and processed exclusively in compliance with the respective data protection principles. The processing of personal data that are collected when you visit our website is done in accordance with the European General Data Protection Regulation ("GDPR").

We would like to point out that our website may contain third party links to which our privacy statement does not apply.

Below we explain to you the individual concepts (terms) and we explain how they are used.

1) How are your personal data collected?

According to Art. 4 of the GDPR, personal data are any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person. For example, your name, phone number, address and email address are part of personal data.

When you visit our website, our web servers store data on the browser and operating system you use, the website from which you visit us, the websites that you visit simultaneously, the date of the visit and, for security reasons (e.g. to detect attacks on our websites) for a certain period of time, the IP address allocated by your internet service provider.

Furthermore, please note that your visit to our website is not associated with automatic storage of your personal data. Your personal data are only collected in cases a registration, an order or other forms in which you can provide your personal information. This means that your personal data are collected only by and with an explicit and active consent.

2) How is your personal data used and disclosed to third parties?

Your data is relevant to CURIE CONSULTING regarding product surveys, newsletters, customer management and marketing. Such data collected by CURIE CONSULTING will not be disclosed to third parties for their own use, unless we are legally obliged to do so or you have given us your explicit consent to do so. The corresponding consent can be revoked by you at any time according to section 9 of the Privacy Policy.

As for the possibility that we have to transmit your data to state institutions due to mandatory national legislation, please note that CURIE CONSULTING has expressly obliged to confidentiality any recipient who comes into contact with your data or processes them in any way.

If you do not want to receive any newsletter anymore, you have the option to unsubscribe from them by yourself at any time. In addition, you have the option of accessing (consulting) the data collected about you and having them deleted if necessary. The exact address for a revocation can be found in section 9 of the Privacy Policy.

3) Surveys and polls concerning CURIE CONSULTING services

It may happen that you receive a request from CURIE CONSULTING regarding a survey about services. The reason for the survey is that CURIE CONSULTING is very concerned about satisfying its customers and fulfilling their wishes fully and in a customer-specific manner. We point out, however, that surveys or polls are always voluntary and have no impact on any discounts or other special conditions.

There is always the possibility to have oneself deregistered from the participation.

4) Cookies

We use what is known as "cookies" when you visit our website. Cookies are small text files that your browser stores. Cookies do not contain any information that could directly identify the individual user. Please note that in such case our website might not work or might not work as intended.

Certain data stored through cookies can be used for advertising purposes, market research purposes or to tailor our offers as required. But the data is always used in line with the legal requirements and in the context of a pseudonymous use.

There are various categories of cookies on our website: strictly necessary cookies, functionality cookies, performance cookies and third-party cookies. CURIE CONSULTING guarantees the flawless and effective use of the website by means of these cookies.

In your browser settings, you can always select the option "do not accept cookies". You can also delete previously set cookies at any time.

5) Social plugins

CURIE CONSULTING uses so-called social plugins of social networks, such as Facebook, Twitter and Google+. These are buttons on the CURIE CONSULTING website. When you visit the website, these buttons do not send data to the respective social networks automatically. Only when you click on the button a direct connection with the server of the respective social network is established and the network can collect data and set cookies.

If you are simultaneously logged in to a social network, the social network can allocate your visit to this website to your user account.

CURIE CONSULTING has no influence on the extent of such data collected by social networks. For more information, please refer to the provisions on your rights and the setting options to protect your privacy at the respective social networks.

If you are a member of one of the following social networks and you do not want the respective provider to collect data, relating to you, through our website and to link it, in some cases, to other stored data, then please completely log out of the respective social network before you visit other websites and, where appropriate, also delete the corresponding cookies.

6) Security and confidentiality

We use data networks that are protected, inter alia, by industry-standard modern firewalls and password systems to ensure the security and confidentiality of the personal data we collect online. Adequate measures are taken when handling your personal data. Such measures protect your data from loss, misuse, unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration or destruction.

7) Information, correction, deletion and contact

We draw your attention to the fact that, as a visitor to our website, you have the right to be forgotten, i.e. that you can request the deletion of your personal data. Again, CURIE CONSULTING will do everything to delete the data within thirty business days. You also have the option to revoke any processes at any time.

We are always at your disposal for questions on data protection, revocation or deletion of personal data.

8) Changes

This Privacy Statement may be changed from time to time due to any changes in case law or applicable legislation. Possible changes will be always published on our website.